NOTED

Cincinnati Tenor To Appear In This City

Engaged For Mid-Winter Concert By Festival Association On January 14

(Communicated)

Good tenors are exceedingly scarce, so much so in fact that one seeks for them only with the utmost trepidation. A certain few we are perfectly sure of, but they are in such demand and consequently command such enormous salaries that they are not available for cities of the size of Mount Vernon. The only recourse in such a case is to find some young artist whose talent and genius proclaim him unmistakably as a prodigy on the threshold of fame.

Such a personage is Walter Vaughan, and he is presented to the people of this city with the highest hope and the utmost confidence of his sponsors.

Mr. Vaughan is enthusiastically received wherever he appears and will please the most critical audience. The Lima, Ohio, daily papers commended him warmly at his recent visit to that city, declaring that he was an artist gifted with a natural voice of the rarest quality, and with a delightful personality. They also stated that his full tenor voice was of a splendid resonant quality, his enunciation clear, and his delivery as giving evidence of sureness and the confidence of a mature artist. He gave a natural and most artistic touch to all his work, and the applause showed that the audience appreciated him to the utmost. Those who love music perfectly rendered, will eagerly await his coming to Mt. Vernon.
